

Dear Neighbor,

I hope you can join two of my House colleagues and me from 1 to 2:30 p.m. tomorrow (Saturday, September 25) at Concord Fortress of Hope Church, 11050 W. Longview Parkway, in south Kansas City near Longview Lake for our 3rd and final joint town hall this year.

Representatives Michael Johnson, Yolanda Young & I will discuss major state issues that impact us here in Kansas City and important legislation we intend to sponsor and support in the upcoming 2022 legislative session.

We all will stay after the formal part of the meeting to talk to people individually and to offer assistance to anyone having problems with state agencies.

Our guest speaker will be Dr. Traci Johnson, MD, an expert in maternal health, who will explain the importance of COVID-19 vaccinations to protect the health of mothers and children.

A southland resident who has devoted countless hours for years to improve our community will be honored during a special presentation.

In-person attendees will need to wear masks. We will meet in the sanctuary, so there will be plenty of room to maintain social distancing.

Those wishing to participate virtually should go online to zoom.us and click on Join a Meeting. The ZOOM webinar ID IS 828 8862 5922, and the passcode is 569361.

Don't forget the 6th District Fall Neighborhood Clean Up will be from 8 a.m. to noon Saturday, October 2, with drop-off sites in the parking lots of Ruskin High School, 7000 E. 111th St., & South-Broadland Presbyterian Church, 7850 Holmes Rd.

There is no charge for any KCMO residents to drop off bulky items such as mattresses & old furniture, leaves & brush, tires with or without rims and trash at both sites, and free document shredding is available at both sites.

Electronics also may be dropped off for recycling at the Ruskin Site, but there are different charges for monitors, TVs and anything containing Freon that are listed on the attached flyer.

Representatives of the KCMO Fire Department will pass out information about the Department's program to deliver and properly install free smoke detectors in residences that need them at both sites.

Masks should be worn at the drop-off sites.

The clean up is sponsored by City Council members Andrea Bough & Mayor Pro Tem Kevin McManus, Community Assistance Council and South Kansas City Alliance.

Paid for by the Missouri House of Representatives.

In May, Missouri Governor Mike Parson was joined by State Senator Barbara Washington, State Representative Mark Sharp and NLBM President Bob Kendrick, at Kauffman Stadium to sign SB 189, which creates a special Missouri license plate commemorating the Negro Leagues Baseball Museum.

It gives motorists the option of donating $10 to the museum, making them eligible to apply for the specialty license plate. The plate itself requires another $15 charge on top of the regular license plate registration fee. The law went into effect on August 28th.

The NLBM can begin collecting the 200 applications for Missouri Personalized and Special License Plate, Form 1716, along with the $15 specialty plate fee and Emblem Use Authorization Statement (EUAS), for the one-time $10 donation to the NLBM for each of the 200 applications submitted.

Representative Sharp joined by Representative Richard Brown walking in the September 18 Missouri Bicentennial Parade in Jefferson City, Missouri, holding a banner displaying the new Negro Leagues Baseball Museum license plate that's now available to purchase by calling the NLBM at (816) 221-1920.

WEEKLY CAPITOL UPDATE

COURT RULES AGAINST STATE ON SENTENCING

A three-judge panel of the 8th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals on Sept. 17 ruled that Missouri's process for determining whether inmates sentenced to mandatory life in prison for crimes committed as juveniles should be eligible for parole is unconstitutional.

While upholding the trial court on that point, the appellate panel ordered the lower court to reconsider its decision that the plaintiffs weren't entitled to state-funded legal counsel.

The case had its origins in a 2012 U.S. Supreme Court decision declaring that sentencing juvenile offenders to life without the possibility of parole violates the Eighth Amendment's prohibition against cruel and unusual punishment since the immaturity of youthful offenders renders them inherently less culpable for their actions.

Four years later, the Supreme Court clarified that its prior ruling is retroactive to the cases of juvenile offenders sentenced before 2012.

After that 2016 ruling, the Missouri Board of Probation and Parole began granting parole hearings to juvenile offenders sentenced to mandatory life terms who had served at least 25 years of imprisonment. However, a 2017 class-action lawsuit alleged those proceedings failed to provide a meaningful opportunity for those offenders to be released since they didn't consider an inmate's youth and maturity level at the time of the offense as mandated by the Supreme Court.

The lawsuit also alleged the parole board improperly limited the testimony offenders were allowed to provide. A federal district judge later sided with the inmates. By a 2-1 vote, the appellate panel upheld the district court.

"We agree with the district court that these policies and practices, when implemented and considered in combination, worked to deprive Plaintiffs of their Eighth Amendment right to a meaningful opportunity to obtain release based upon demonstrated maturity and rehabilitation,” Judge Jane Kelly wrote for the two-judge majority.

The dissenting judge found that the hearings provided by the board were constitutionally sufficient.

A sentencing reform amendment I sponsored this year to Senate Bill 26 that was signed into law by the governor on July 14 provides that if persons were under 18 years of age when they committed an offense or multiple offenses and were sentenced to imprisonment for 15 years or more that they will be eligible to apply for parole after imprisonment for 15 years. It does not apply to young offenders convicted of first degree or capital murder or sentenced to mandatory life terms who were already allowed to apply for parole after 25 years of imprisonment.

The need for this reform came to my attention when I became aware of the case of Bobby Bostic who was sentenced to 241 years in prison in Missouri for multiple offenses that occurred one night in 1995 when he was 16 and accompanied an older youth who later admitted he instigated the crimes that did not include any homicides. Bostic’s sentences were imposed consecutively, so he would not have been eligible to apply for parole unless he lives to be 112 years old without passage of my amendment.

HEALTH DIRECTOR HAUNTED BY NEW LAW

The new head of the Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services told reporters on Sept. 16 that a recently enacted state law limiting the ability of local governments to respond to public health emergencies “haunts” him as he begins leading the state’s efforts to combat the ongoing coronavirus pandemic, according to reports by various news outlets.

Donald Kauerauf, a 30-year veteran of the Illinois Department of Public Health with experience in emergency management, took over as Missouri’s health department director Sept. 1.

In June, a new state law took effect tightly limiting the scope and duration of local health restrictions. “This is the one that haunts me, and this is the one I’m worried about,” Kauerauf said in reference to the new law, according to the St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

“Public health is not politics. It is helping people.”

Gov. Mike Parson signed the measure (House Bill 271) into law about five weeks before announcing the hiring of Kauerauf in July.

Parson’s support for stripping authority from local officials was somewhat surprising since during the height of the pandemic the governor repeatedly justified his hands-off approach to imposing statewide restrictions by saying local officials were better positioned to determine the appropriate measures necessary based on local conditions.

During his virtual news conference, Kauerauf also spoke out in favor of wearing masks to limit the spread of COVID-19.

“Everything I’ve read, everything I’ve seen: masks work,” Kauerauf said, according to the Missouri Independent.

State Extends Monoclonal Antibody Treatment Contract

(JEFFERSON CITY, MO) – Today, Governor Mike Parson announced that Missouri's six state-contracted monoclonal antibody treatment sites will be operational for an additional 30 days.

"Monoclonal antibody treatments have been successful for many COVID-19 patients and have allowed us to lessen the strain on Missouri's health care systems," Governor Parson said. "However, this treatment is not a replacement for the vaccine. Encouraging more Missourians to choose vaccination is still the most effective path for us to move past COVID-19."

The initial monoclonal antibody treatment contract with SLSCO of Galveston, Texas, was activated by the Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services (DHSS) in late August to provide monoclonal antibody (mAb) infusion treatment for 30 days at sites in Butler, Jackson, Jefferson, Pettis, and Scott counties as well as the City of St. Louis.

These sites began operating between August 25-31. The 30-day extensions will apply to each site's respective operating timeline. To date, 1,732 patients have been treated with monoclonal antibody infusions through these sites, and several other health care systems are also providing this care to their patients as needed.

Authorized by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA) for emergency use, monoclonal antibody treatments may help people who are at high risk for serious COVID-19 symptoms to recover faster and reduce the likelihood of staying in the hospital. High-risk individuals with a recent COVID-19 diagnosis are encouraged to contact their health care provider to discuss possible treatment options.

Missouri patients and health care providers can learn more about the available treatment sites in Missouri and how to access them using this map. Treatment is completely free for patients when accessing one of the six state-operated treatment centers.

Comments and suggestions are being gathered through an online survey at <https://www.surveymonkey.com/r/MORightsTaskForce>. The survey closes Friday Sept. 30, 2021.

The Missouri Rights of Victims of Sexual Assault Task Force was created through Senate Bill 569, which was signed into law by Governor Mike Parson in July 2020. In addition to including the “Justice for Survivors Act” and the “Sexual Assault Survivors’ Bill of Rights,” it mandated establishment of the task force, which must “collect feedback from stakeholders, practitioners, and leadership throughout the state and local law enforcement, victim services, forensic science practitioners, and health care communities to inform development of future best practices or clinical guidelines regarding the care and treatment of survivors.”

SB 569 also requires the task force to study nationally recognized best practices and make recommendations regarding the development and implementation of a method for tracking and investigating complaints about the handling of sexual assault investigations and reporting, and the development of documentation to be provided to sexual assault survivors informing them of their rights. It also directs the task force to determine when there is a need for additional employees or volunteers at rape crisis centers, determine the costs of meeting the potential need and methods for meeting the need.

The task force is required to submit a report on its findings, including any majority and dissenting opinions to the Governor and General Assembly by Dec. 31, 2021. Recordings of the task force's previous public hearings and other information about its work is available here: <https://dps.mo.gov/dir/programs/cvsu/task-force.php>.

The Department of Public Safety is tasked with providing administrative support to the task force.

Volunteers Needed

October 9, 2021

Our 4th annual South KC Block Party at Red Bridge Shopping Center will be on October 9th and it is shaping up to be a great event! We have lots of vendors, games and crafts for kids, entertainment and more!

The Chamber is looking for volunteers to help with the event. We need people between the hours of 6 am and 6 pm (you pick the times you are available) and here are some of the things we need help with:

- Set-Up: Help us get ready for the day by putting up signs, setting up chairs, marking off vendor booths etc.
- Kids' Fun Zone: Run an activity and give out prizes.
- Check-In/Information Booth: Check in vendors and volunteers and answer general questions about the event and help to direct vendors to their space.
- Beer Garden: Sell and serve beverages.
- General Volunteer: Let us put you where we need you.
- Tear Down Clean Up: The event is over and everything must go away.

It takes many people to put on an event like this and there are many opportunities and times available so I hope you and/or your company will consider volunteering that day!

If you have any questions, don't hesitate to contact me at 816-761-7660 or aalesi@southkcchamber.com. Also, feel free to share this information with others.

Have a great day!
