Dear Neighbor,

I am more optimistic than ever that Missouri is finally going to establish a statewide witness protection program that will encourage more people to testify about murders and other violent crimes which will help take repeat violent offenders off the streets before they can hurt other victims.

House Bill 66 that I co-sponsored to create a pretrial witness protection program was recommended for passage this week by the House Judiciary Committee by a 17-0 vote and then recommended for passage by the House Rules-Administrative Oversight Committee 13-0.

The bill is scheduled to be considered by the full House early next week, and if approved as expected, it will go to the Senate for consideration.

Earlier during the current special session of the General Assembly, the Senate passed an omnibus anti-crime bill that included witness protection provisions as well as some controversial provisions that was not taken up by the House. The witness protection provisions did not appear controversial.

House Bill 66 will establish a pretrial witness protection fund administered by the State Department of Public Safety that will provide financial aid to law enforcement agencies to protect victims, witnesses and their immediate families if their testimony would put their lives in jeopardy.

Law enforcement agencies would need to apply for funding for specific cases and explain the methods they plan to use to protect the victims or witnesses including projected costs.

I greatly appreciate the testimony of representatives of the City of KCMO and the Missouri Association of Prosecuting Attorneys supporting this legislation before the Judiciary Committee.

House Bill 2 that I also co-sponsored should dramatically reduce the incentive for guilty defendants in homicide cases or other serious felonies to try to have witnesses killed before their trials or to intimidate them into not testifying.

This bill will allow a judge to admit statements by witnesses into evidence if the judge finds that a defendant engaged in wrongdoing (or consented to wrongdoing) to prevent a witness from testifying and the witness fails to appear despite a prosecutor's due diligence or is unavailable "because the defendant caused the death of the witness".

Wrongdoing is defined "as the conduct constituting the offense of tampering with a witness or victim" under current Missouri law.

In a jury trial, a hearing to determine if such statements will be admissible will have to be held outside the presence of the jury.

This bill also appears to have an excellent chance of passage. It was recommended for passage as a House committee substitute for the original bill earlier this week by the House Judiciary Committee by a 17-0 vote and then recommended for passage by the House Rules-Administrative Oversight Committee 12-0.

Hopefully, these bills will have a real impact on reducing our skyrocketing number of homicides in KCMO, as well as the number of other violent crimes.

As of yesterday, KCMO had recorded 125 homicides this year, including 16 in South Patrol. This is 15 more homicides in the city than the number reported in the August 1 Capitol Report when I first started tracking homicides in this Report. It also represents a 42.9% increase from the average number of homicides in the city by the same date for the last four years.

Please scroll down to the Weekly Capitol Update for information on the other bills intended to reduce crime that are scheduled for House consideration next week.

Email is probably the best way to reach my office. If you are unable to quickly reach me, my assistant Brian Farmer is ready to help you.

Feel free to forward this newsletter to your friends and family who might want to know the latest news about what is happening in state government and about important local events. Be safe and God bless!

FOUR MORE BILLS AWAITING HOUSE ACTION NEXT WEEK

Besides the two witness protection proposals already discussed, four more bills dealing with criminal justice and public safety are awaiting action by the full House next week.

House Bill 11 will make it a Class D felony to aid or encourage a child under 17 to commit a state weapons offense. This bill was recommended for passage by the House General Laws Committee by a vote of 8-4 and by the House Rules-Legislative Oversight Committee 9-0.

House Committee Substitute for House Bill 12 will raise the age from 12 to 16 before a juvenile offender can be considered for prosecution as an adult for offenses that would be felonies if committed by adults.

(Under present law, 17 year olds are considered adults under Missouri's criminal justice system, but that age is scheduled to increase to 18 on January 1, 2021.)

Currently juvenile judges are authorized to conduct hearings on whether there are reasonable prospects of rehabilitation within the juvenile justice system for such juvenile offenders or whether they should be transferred for prosecution through the adult criminal justice system.

Current law mandates such hearings for specified serious felonies such as murder, first degree assault, forcible or first degree rape, forcible or first degree sodomy or first degree robbery.

This legislation adds armed criminal action (committing a felony through the use of a dangerous instrument or deadly weapon) to the list of offenses that automatically trigger a transfer hearing, but eliminates distribution of drugs and manufacturing a controlled substance.

The bill mandates that before a transfer hearing is held there must be an evidentiary hearing to determine if the preponderance of evidence indicates there is probable cause to believe the juvenile committed the alleged offense.

It also mandates that if juvenile offenders are convicted as adults and sentenced to incarceration that they be physically separated from adult offenders and that rehabilitation programs be established for such offenders that include programs that award a high school diploma or its equivalent.

This legislation was recommended for passage by the House Special Committee on Criminal Justice by a vote of 7-1 and by the House Rules-Administrative Oversight Committee 12-1.

House Committee Substitute for House Bill 16 gutted the original version of this bill that I co-sponsored to make it a Class E felony to knowingly deliver, give, lend or sell a firearm or blackjack to someone under 18 without the consent of the recipient's custodial parent or guardian. It is already a Class A misdemeanor to recklessly do this, but the original version of the bill stiffened the penalty for those who actually know the recipient is under 18 and the custodial parent or guardian has not consented.

Unfortunately, the House General Laws Committee adopted a committee substitute that eliminated both the proposed stiffer penalty for knowingly delivering, giving, lending or selling a firearm to persons under 18 in these circumstances and the existing penalty for recklessly doing so.

The committee substitute left intact the stiffer penalty for blackjack transactions (which I highly doubt is a common problem). It also makes it a Class E felony for such firearm transactions only if it can be proven they were committed for the purpose of avoiding, interfering with or preventing a felony arrest, detention or investigation, which is much more narrow in scope than the original bill.

This legislation was recommended for passage by the House General Laws Committee by a vote of 7-4 and by the Rules-Legislative Oversight Committee 6-3.

House Committee Substitute for House Bill 46 will eliminate the current requirement that officers and civilian employees of the St. Louis City Municipal Police Department, Fire Department and Sheriff's Office be residents of the city but will allow the city to require they live within an hour's drive of the city limits.

For those personnel hired after August 31,2023, they may be required to live in the city for seven years and then may only be required to live within an hour's drive.

This legislation was recommended for passage by the House Judiciary Committee by a vote of 12-4 and by the House Rules-Administrative Oversight Committee 11-2.

If the House approves these bills, which appears highly likely for at least three of them, they will then go to the Senate for consideration.

CLEAN MISSOURI REPEAL BALLOT LANGUAGE REWRITTEN

A Cole County judge rewrote the ballot language for a measure aimed at repealing new voter-enacted redistricting reforms, calling various aspects of the original wording "misleading," "objectively untrue," "literally false" and a "deception," among other strongly worded terms.

The Republican-controlled General Assembly passed Senate Joint Resolution 38 in May, and I joined 55 of my House colleagues in voting no on the measure which passed 98-56.. The proposed constitutional amendment seeks to reverse an overhaul of Missouri's state legislative redistricting process that voters overwhelming ratified in 2018 as Amendment 1, also known as Clean Missouri. SJR 38 will appear on the Nov. 3 ballot as Amendment 3.

Although the Missouri secretary of state traditionally writes the ballot language for measures sent to voters, SJR 38's sponsor, Senator Dan Hegeman, R-Cosby, exercised his prerogative under state law to include his own ballot language in the legislation. Hegeman's language makes no mention of repealing the new redistricting process created by Clean Missouri, an omission Cole County Circuit Judge Patricia Joyce, said obscures SJR 38's main goal.

"The 'central purpose' or 'primary objective' of SJR 38 is to effectively repeal Amendment 1," Joyce wrote. "Accordingly, the summary statement must alert voters to that change in some fashion. Instead, the General Assembly's statement does not mention the change at all. It is insufficient, unfair and must be rewritten."

The new redistricting system is slated to be used for the first time during next year's redistricting cycle.

Under Clean Missouri, a non-partisan state demographer is charged with drawing new state House and Senate districts based on constitutionally established criteria, including partisan fairness and competitive balance. SJR 38 seeks to reinstate a modified version of Missouri's old redistricting system, under which commissions controlled by the two major political parties had first crack at crafting new legislative districts.

In addition to omitting the central purpose of Amendment 3, Joyce said the ballot language also makes false, misleading or overstated claims about other aspects of the proposal.

"This sort of deception is the exact evil the summary statement is meant to combat, not promote," Joyce wrote.

Joyce's rewritten ballot language focuses on the proposed repeal of the new redistricting system, while more accurately describing minor changes Amendment 3 would make regarding restrictions on lobbyist gifts to lawmakers and contribution limits to state senate candidates.

Attorney General Eric Schmitt is appealing Joyce's decision on behalf of Secretary of State Jay Ashcroft and Republican legislative leaders. A three-judge panel of the Missouri Court of Appeals Western District is scheduled to hear the case, Barbara Pippens, et al., v. John R. Ashcroft, et al., on Aug. 28.

Public Improvement Advisory Committee (PIAC) Hearings

PIAC Public Hearings

The Public Improvements Advisory Committee (PIAC), in cooperation with the Mayor and City Council, will be holding public hearings across the city. These hearings are being held so that the Committee and Council can hear from citizens about the city's public improvements needs. The PIAC will use information gathered through the hearings to recommend projects for funding to the Council for Year Thirty-Eight (Fiscal Year 2021-22) of the one-cent sales tax for public improvements

Due to the COVID-19 outbreak, PIAC is modifying the public hearing process to include a remote meeting in each district. Two hearings will be held for each district and will include one virtual meeting and one in-person meeting. The PIAC is making a full effort to ensure that all those who wish to participate in the PIAC district hearings are able to do so in a safe manner. If you have further questions or concerns, please contact PIAC@kcmo.org. Each district's PIAC representatives are also available for contact and further information. Additional information about City impacts, help, resources, and more on the City's response to COVID-19 can be found at kcmo.gov/coronavirus.

In addition to coming to the hearings, citizens can also tell PIAC about needed public improvements by completing a PIAC application request form. These forms will be available at the hearings or are available from the Capital Improvements Program by phone: (816) 513-8828 or by e-mail.

The 2020 deadline date to submit a request is August 31.

PIAC District Hearings Schedule

PIAC District Hearings will be held for each district. Meetings will accommodate a virtual option through Zoom and one meeting in each district will accommodate an in-person option. Meetings with an in-person option are identified in the schedule below. Please note that applicants and community members wishing to participate virtually (speak or show content) should do so through the video conference platform.

Originating in Chicago, Youth Guidance creates and implements school-based programs that enable children to overcome obstacles, focus on their education, and ultimately, to succeed in school and life. The organization is a leading provider of outcomes-driven programs and capacity building initiatives, directly serving more than 13,000 youth.

KANSAS CITY, MO --- The Kansas City, Missouri Police Department and the Greater KC Crime Stoppers TIPS Hotline continue to seek information in the January 20, 2018 homicide of 9 year old Dominic Young Jr. at 71 Highway and Emanuel Cleaver II Blvd.
